Important footnote for the gas springs:

- the gas spring was balanced due to the weight of a original door without any additional accessories. If there is a difference in the weight of the door you may need to purchase a stronger or weaker gas spring at additional cost.
- Please note, that the gas power of the gas springs may change due to temperature variations, this may alter the force required to open and close the door. These variations are normal and are due to the nature of gas springs and should not be considered a defect.
